

Opportunity B – International remote internship with Think Pacific in Fiji

Start date: a 4, 8 or 12 week flexible programme starting in July or August 2021

Scholarship fund: If successful, the full cost of the programme, including registration fee will be covered. 11 spaces are available to BU students.

Think Pacific work in partnership with the Fijian government and major Fijian Non-Government Organisations (NGO's) to tackle international development issues. They support Fijian government ministries, businesses, and charities to implement the Fiji National Development Plan and UN Sustainable Development Goals.

On this remote internship you will be connected with real projects and organisations that are supporting communities in the Fiji Islands to create a significant impact within the following areas: Business and Enterprise, Global Health, Global Psychology, Sports Development, Marketing, International Development, Global Education, Environment, NGO Management and Engineering.

You will receive mentoring, coaching and support as you create an action plan for a Fijian organisation, complete sustainable development and cultural learning modules, engage in sector-specific workshops with experts, develop remote working skills and connect with socially-conscious students and professionals.
